

EXIN Dynamic Project Management Method Foundation

Duration 3 Days

COURSE DESCRIPTION

DPMM stands for Dynamic Project Management Method. The method offers a structured and consistent approach to project management, supporting all roles within a project management team.

It is compatible and complementary with P3. express, PRINCE2®, the PMBOK® Guide and other widespread methods, standards and frameworks.

COURSE OBJECTIVE

- To change the basis of your existing project management system away from a proprietary, high total cost of ownership product to one which is free to use, with as little rework as possible
- To expand your existing project management system, based on a minimalist approach like P3. express, with topics not covered therein
- for a basis for your new project management system, which is free to use, but needs a minimalist system like P3. express offers
- For a project management system with an internationally recognized certification, with certificates valid for life, backed by a reputable examination institute
